Division 3

Police Powers of Entry, Arrest and Detention

Power of entry without a warrant

9.—(1) Without prejudice to the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01 a police officer may enter premises, without a warrant, to arrest a person who is engaging or attempting to engage in an act of domestic violence where failure of the police officer to act immediately may result in injury or death of a person.

(2) Without prejudice to the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01, where a police officer exercises a power of entry under subsection (1), the police officer shall immediately submit a written report to the Commissioner of Police through his or her supervisor.

- (3) A report under subsection (2) must contain —
- (a) the reason for entering the premises without a warrant;
 - (b) the act of domestic violence a person was engaged in or attempting to engage in;
 - (c) the manner in which the investigation was conducted;

- (d) the measures taken to ensure the protection and safety of the victim.

Power of entry with a warrant

10.—(1) Without prejudice to the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01, where a person denies a police officer entry under section 9, the police officer shall make an application to a magistrate for a warrant to enter the premises on which he or she reasonably believes an act of domestic violence —

- (a) has been committed;
- (b) is being committed;
- (c) is likely to be committed.

(2) A magistrate may, on considering an application under subsection (1), issue a warrant in writing authorizing a police officer to enter the premises.

(3) A warrant under subsection (2) must specify —

- (a) the premises on which the police officer is authorized to enter;
- (b) the time period for execution of the warrant;
- (c) any other condition as the magistrate determines.

Arrest by a police officer

11.—(1) Without prejudice to the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01, a police officer may arrest, without a warrant, a person including a child, where the police officer reasonably suspects that the person or child —

- (a) has committed;
- (b) is committing; or
- (c) is likely to commit,

an act of domestic violence.

(2) Where a child is arrested under subsection (1), a police officer shall immediately notify —

- (a) the parent;

- (b) the Director of Human Services; or
- (c) a probation officer.

(3) Subsection (2)(b) and (c) applies where the Director of Human Services has assumed responsibility for the child, under the Child (Care, Protection and Adoption) Act, Cap. 4.07.

Detention by a police officer

12.—(1) A police officer shall, after arresting a child under section 11, detain the child in a separate place from a place where an adult is being held in police custody.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply in relation to a child, where a police officer reasonably believes that the child is an adult.

(3) A police officer may, in accordance with the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01 detain a person arrested under section 11, while conducting an investigation under section 8(2).

(4) Notwithstanding this Act, section 44(5) of the Child Justice Act, Cap. 3.09 applies where a child is detained in a court by a police officer.

Division 4

Bail for an offence in relation to an act of Domestic Violence

Bail for an offence in relation to an act of domestic violence

13.—(1) Without prejudice to the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01 where a criminal court has to determine whether to grant bail with respect to an act of domestic violence, the court must consider —

- (a) the need to protect the applicant from acts of domestic violence;
- (b) the welfare of a child or dependant if the respondent or applicant has custody of the child or dependant;
- (c) the welfare of a child or dependant of the household; and
- (d) any hardship that may be caused to the respondent or other members of his or her family where bail is not granted.

(2) In granting bail, the court may order that the recognizance be subject to the following conditions that the respondent —

- (a) does not harass, molest or cause another person to harass or molest the applicant;
- (b) is not present on the premises in which the applicant works or resides; and
- (c) is not to be in a locality where the applicant works or resides.

(3) A police officer may arrest a person, without a warrant, where a police officer believes on reasonable grounds that a person —

- (a) has been granted bail subject to a condition; and
- (b) has failed to comply with a condition of the recognizance.

PART III PROTECTION ORDERS

Division 1

Interim Protection Order

Application for an interim protection order by a victim

14. A victim may make an ex parte application to the court, in the prescribed form, for an interim protection order on the grounds that the respondent —

- (a) has committed;
- (b) has threatened to commit;
- (c) has attempted to commit; or
- (d) is likely to commit,

an act of domestic violence.

Application for an interim protection order on behalf of a victim

15.—(1) Subject to subsection (2), a person may make an ex parte application to the court, for an interim protection order, on behalf of a victim —

- (a) where the victim —

- (i) is a child or dependant of that person,
 - (ii) resides or resided with that person,
 - (iii) relies on that person for his or her welfare,
 - (iv) is in the custody of the Director of Human Services;
- (b) where the person has a material interest in the well-being of the victim.

(2) A person with a material interest in the well-being of a victim, under subsection (1)(b) includes —

- (a) a gazetted officer;
- (b) the Director of Human Services; or
- (c) an assigned officer.

(3) A person making an application for an interim protection order, on behalf of a victim shall obtain the prior written consent of the victim, except where the victim is —

- (a) a child; or
- (b) by reason of mental disorder or of any other permanent or temporary incapacity, whether from intoxication or any other cause, unable to understand the nature and consequences of the act to which he or she consents.

Making of a report to a police officer and application for an interim protection order, by a witness

16. Where a witness to an act of domestic violence has reasonable grounds to believe that a crime is likely to be committed against him or her, by the person accused of the act of domestic violence, he or she may, with respect to the person accused —

- (a) make a report to a police officer;
- (b) make an application for an interim protection order.

Time for submitting an application for an interim protection order

17. An application for an interim protection order under section 14, 15 or 16, may be submitted outside the ordinary hours of the court or on a day which is not an ordinary day for a sitting of the court, where the court is satisfied that a victim or a witness may suffer undue hardship if the application is not heard immediately.

Contents of and accompanying document with an application for an interim protection order

18.—(1) An application under section 14, 15 or 16 —

(a) must specify —

- (i) the facts on which the application is based,
- (ii) the nature of the interim protection order applied for, and
- (iii) the name of the police station closest to the victim's place of residence;

(b) must be accompanied by —

- (i) an affidavit provided by the victim,
- (ii) a police complaint,
- (iii) any other documents in support of the application.

(2) Where an affidavit under subsection (1)(b)(i) contains information with regard to the possession of a firearm by the respondent and that injury or harm to another person may result, the court shall cause the Director to submit a copy of the affidavit to the Commissioner of Police.

Application for an interim protection order to be lodged with the Court

19.—(1) An application under section 14, 15 or 16 must be lodged with the Court together with —

- (a) an affidavit of the victim;
- (b) police complaint; and
- (c) any other document in support of the application.

Matters to be considered by the court before granting an interim protection order

20.—(1) In determining whether or not to grant an interim protection order, the Court —

- (a) may require further oral evidence or evidence by affidavit to be given;
- (b) shall consider —
 - (i) the nature or history of the acts of domestic violence,
 - (ii) whether a previous protection order has been granted,
 - (iii) the need to protect the victim from further acts of domestic violence,
 - (iv) the welfare of a child or dependant,
 - (v) the accommodation needs of the victim and any other person,
 - (vi) the hardship that may be caused to the victim,
 - (vii) the income, assets and financial obligations of the respondent, the victim and any other person affected by the interim protection order;
 - (viii) the need to preserve and protect the institution of marriage and domestic relationships,
 - (ix) in the case where the respondent is a child, the Child Justice Act;
 - (x) any other matter the court considers relevant.

(2) The evidence of an applicant is sufficient for the grant of an interim protection order and no other independent evidence is required by the Court.

Grant of an interim protection order

21.—(1) The Court may grant an interim protection order where the Court is satisfied that the respondent —

- (a) has committed;
- (b) has threatened to commit;

(c) attempted to commit; or

(d) is likely to commit,

an act of domestic violence.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1) and where the applicant and the respondent are parties to civil or criminal proceedings, the Court may grant an interim protection order, without an application being made to the Court.

(3) The Court shall not refuse to grant an interim protection order where —

(a) a single act has been committed or a single threat has been made by the respondent; or

(b) the acts or threats when viewed in isolation, appear to be minor or trivial.

(4) At the proceedings for an interim protection order, the Court may —

(a) decide the matter based on affidavit evidence;

(b) request oral evidence.

(5) In granting an interim protection order under this section, the Court may issue a warrant for the arrest of the respondent to ensure the respondent is present at the court.

Validity of an interim protection order

22.—(1) The Court may grant an interim protection order for a period not exceeding twenty-eight days.

(2) An interim protection order is automatically extended for a further period of fifteen days where the Court is unable to hear and determine the proceedings for a final protection order before the expiration of the period specified under subsection (1).

Service of an interim protection order and notice of proceedings for a final protection order

23.—(1) Where the Court grants an interim protection order under section 21, the Director shall cause to be served —

(a) on the respondent or his or her agent; and

- (b) in the case where the respondent is a child or dependant, on the parent or person responsible for the child or dependant —
 - (i) a copy of the interim protection order, and
 - (ii) a notice of proceedings for a final protection order in the prescribed form.

(2) A notice of proceedings for a final protection order under subsection (1)(b)(ii), must specify the location of the Court, the date and time when a person is required to appear before the Court.

(3) An officer of the Court must provide proof of service of a notice of proceedings for a final protection order.

Substituted service of an interim protection order and notice of proceedings for a final protection order

24.—(1) Where an officer of the court is unable to effect personal service under section 23 the Court may, on the request of the Director, make an order for substituted service of the interim protection order and notice of proceedings for a final protection order.

(2) Substituted service is taken to have been effected at midnight on the date of publication of the advertisement.

(3) The cost of an advertisement under subsection (2) is borne by the applicant.

(4) In this section, “substituted service” means service —

- (a) by registered post to the last known address of the respondent;
- (b) by leaving the document at the last known address of the respondent or with his or her relative;
- (c) by leaving the document at the workplace of the respondent;
- (d) by advertisement in a newspaper of general circulation;
- (e) in any other manner as the Court directs.

Filing of affidavit by a respondent

25.—(1) A respondent may, on being served with an interim protection order and notice of proceedings for a final protection order, file an affidavit with the Court and Director, by the date specified in the notice of proceedings for a final protection order.

(2) An affidavit under subsection (1) must specify —

- (a) evidence with respect to the act of domestic violence;
- (b) reasons for the Court to set aside an interim protection order;
- (c) reasons for not making a final protection order.

Service of an affidavit filed by the respondent

26. An officer of the Court shall immediately serve, on the applicant a copy of the affidavit of the respondent filed under section 25.

Affidavit in reply to the affidavit filed by the respondent

27. The applicant may, on receipt of an affidavit filed by the respondent under section 26, file an affidavit in reply to the affidavit filed by the respondent with the Court and Director, by the date specified by the court.

Service of affidavit in reply

28. The Court and Director shall cause a copy of the affidavit in reply to the affidavit filed by the respondent, to be served on the respondent.

Documents to be submitted to the court

29. On the date fixed by the Court for the proceedings, the following documents must be submitted to the Court —

- (a) the application for the interim protection order;
- (b) the interim protection order;
- (c) the affidavit filed by the respondent; and
- (d) the affidavit in reply to the affidavit filed by the respondent.

Division 2
Final Protection Order

Proceedings in the absence of the respondent

30. Where a notice of the proceedings for a final protection order is served on the respondent under section 23 or 24 and the respondent fails to appear in person on the date and time fixed for the matter with respect to a final protection order, the Court may, in the absence of the respondent —

- (a) proceed to hear and determine the matter;
- (b) issue a warrant for the respondent to be arrested and brought before the court.
- (c) adjourn the matter;
- (d) grant a final protection order.

Proceedings in the absence of the applicant

31. Where the applicant or his or her attorney-at-law fails to appear in person on the date and time fixed by the Court for the matter with respect to a final protection order and the respondent appears in Court, the Court may, in the absence of the applicant —

- (a) adjourn the matter on terms the court considers just, having received a reasonable excuse for the non-appearance of the applicant;
- (b) dismiss the application.

Bond of good behaviour in lieu of a final protection order or penalty

32.—(1) Where, on hearing the evidence with respect to a final protection order, the Court may, with the consent of the applicant, not grant a final protection order or impose a penalty and require the respondent to enter into a bond of good behaviour, where —

- (a) the incident was isolated;
- (b) there are circumstances which make it desirable to preserve the family unit; and
- (c) the conduct complained of is not sufficiently grave to warrant a final protection order or penalty.

(2) A bond of good behaviour under subsection (1) is valid for a period not exceeding six months.

(3) Where a respondent enters a bond of good behaviour under subsection (1), the Court may specify additional conditions as follows —

- (a) that the parties —
 - (i) receive professional counselling,
 - (ii) attend psychoeducational group therapy,
 - (iii) report to an assigned officer at fixed intervals;
- (b) that the matter be reviewed by the Court within three months.

Forfeiture of a bond of good behaviour

33. A respondent forfeits a bond of good behaviour under section 32 where the Court determines that —

- (a) the respondent has engaged in a further act of domestic violence against the applicant;
- (b) based on a report from an assigned officer, the Director, a social worker or a police officer that an act of domestic violence is likely to be committed against the applicant; or
- (c) the applicant has become fearful of the respondent to the extent that the applicant is no longer willing to continue the domestic relationship.

Grant or refusal to grant a final protection order

34. On conclusion of proceedings for a final protection order the Court may —

- (a) confirm, amend or set aside the interim protection order;
- (b) grant a final protection order in the prescribed form;
- (c) refuse to grant a final protection order where —
 - (i) the matter is outside the scope of this Act,

- (ii) the limitation period under the Criminal Code, Cap. 3.01 elapses;
- (iii) the complainant is a respondent in another matter under this Act.

Notice and service of a final protection order

35. The Court shall immediately —

- (a) give notice of a final protection order granted under section 34(b) in writing, to the parties; and
- (b) serve —
 - (i) the respondent, the final protection order,
 - (ii) the applicant, a certified copy of the final protection.

*Division 3GeneralExplanation to respondent by the court

36. Where the Court grants a protection order and the respondent is before the Court, the Court shall explain to the respondent —

- (a) the contents of the protection order;
- (b) the means by which the protection order may be varied or revoked; and
- (c) the consequences for failing to comply with the protection order.

Terms of a protection order

37.—(1) In specifying the terms of a protection order, the Court may —

- (a) prohibit the respondent from —
 - (i) committing an act of domestic violence,
 - (ii) enlisting the assistance of a person to commit an act of domestic violence,
 - (iii) entering a shared household,

- (iv) entering a specified part of a shared household,
 - (v) entering the residence of the victim or applicant,
 - (vi) entering the place of employment of the victim or applicant,
 - (vii) preventing the applicant, or any child or dependant who ordinarily resides or has resided in the shared household from entering or remaining in the shared household or a specified part of the shared household,
 - (viii) taking possession of, using, damaging, converting or otherwise dealing with property of the victim or applicant,
 - (ix) approaching the victim or applicant within a specified distance,
 - (x) committing any other act as specified in the order;
- (b) direct that —
- (i) the conditions of a protection order be applied for the benefit of a child or dependant,
 - (ii) the applicant and the respondent or any other person affected, receive professional counselling or psychoeducational group therapy from a person or agency which is approved in writing by the Director,
 - (iii) the respondent —
 - (A) return to the victim or applicant specified property that is in his or her possession or under his or her control;
 - (B) pay monetary relief to the victim or applicant;
 - (C) pay monetary relief to the victim or applicant for the benefit of a child or dependant, where there is no existing order in effect with respect to maintenance;
 - (D) immediately vacate a shared household for a specified period;

- (E) make or continue to make payments with respect to rent or mortgage obligations for the property occupied by the applicant;
 - (F) vacate a shared household; or
 - (G) return to the applicant or victim any specified property that is in his or her possession or control,
- (iv) a police officer —
- (A) removes the respondent, immediately or within a specified time, from the shared household;
 - (B) accompanies the applicant, either immediately or within a specified time, to a property, to supervise the removal of items belonging to the applicant;
- (c) refuse the respondent's contact with a child or dependant where evidence indicates that the contact is not in the best interest of the child or dependant;
- (d) order structured contact with a child or dependant;
- (e) order a police officer to seize a firearm in the possession of the respondent, where an affidavit made under section 18 contains information to the effect that —
- (i) the respondent has threatened to injure the victim, or
 - (ii) possession of the firearm by the respondent may result in injury to another person;
- (f) any other terms the Court considers necessary.
- (2) Where the Court makes an order under subsection (1)(b)(ii) —
- (a) the order must specify that the professional counsellor or therapist shall —
 - (i) give written notice to the Court of sessions missed by the applicant, the respondent or both parties, without reasonable excuse, and
 - (ii) submit a report to the Court with respect to the counselling or psychoeducational group therapy, at a date determined by the Court, which includes a prognosis for recovery.

(3) Where a person has refused or willfully neglected to comply with the direction under subsection (1)(b)(ii) the person is liable to a penalty of ten thousand dollars.

(4) The Court may grant a final protection order for a period not exceeding three years.

(5) Where a final protection order contains a prohibition or direction, the Court may specify a period for each condition or prohibition and each period must —

- (a) not exceed three years; and
- (b) run concurrently.

Report of contravention of a protection order

38. A person may make a report, to a police officer, where the respondent has contravened the protection order.

Arrest by a police officer for contravention of a protection order

39. A police officer may, on receipt of a report under section 38, arrest the respondent for contravention of a protection order.

Penalties for contravention of a protection order

40. A person against whom a protection order is made and contravenes the protection order, commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction —

- (a) in the case of a first conviction, to a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, or to both;
- (b) in the case of a second conviction, to a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, or to both; and
- (c) in the case of a subsequent conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years.

Application for variation or revocation of a protection order

41.—(1) A party to the proceedings may make an application to the Court, in the prescribed form, to vary or revoke a protection order during the period in which the protection order is valid.

(2) The Court shall have regard to all matters necessary in determining whether to vary or revoke a protection order including —

- (a) the current circumstances of applicant and respondent;
- (b) the necessity of a protection order.

Service of application for variation or revocation of a protection order

42. The Director shall cause a copy of an application under section 41, to be served on each party to the proceedings in respect of which the protection order was made.

Grant of an application for variation or revocation of a protection order

43. On receipt of an application to vary or revoke a protection order, the Court may grant the application.

Service of grant of an application for variation or revocation of a protection order

44. Where an application to vary or revoke a protection order is granted under section 43 —

- (a) the Director shall cause the varied protection order or notice of revocation to be drawn up in the prescribed form and filed with the Court; and
- (b) the Director shall serve a copy of the varied protection order or notice of revocation on —
 - (i) the respondent;
 - (ii) any other person to whom the varied protection order or notice of revocation applies; and
 - (iii) the police officer in charge of a police station located nearest to the residence of the respondent or the applicant.

Protection order as evidence of a material fact in other proceedings

45. The grant of a protection order may be introduced as evidence of a material fact in subsequent civil or criminal proceedings.

Protection of mortgage

46.—(1) A right conferred on a person in respect of any property by a protection order made under this Act is subject to the rights of a person entitled to the benefit of any mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance affecting the property if —

- (a) the mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance was registered before a protection order was made; or
- (b) the rights of that other person entitled to that benefit arise under an instrument executed before the date of the making of a protection order.

(2) Money payable under any mortgage, security, charge or encumbrance does not become payable by reason of the making of a protection order under this Act.

Property rights

47. This Act shall not be construed as altering the rights of a spouse in respect of ownership of any real, personal, movable or immovable property.

Appeals

48.—(1) A person aggrieved by —

- (a) a protection order of the court; or
- (b) the refusal of the Court to make a protection order, may, within twenty-eight days after the decision of the court, appeal to the High Court.

(2) Except where the Court which makes a protection order under this Act otherwise directs, the operation of the protection order is not suspended by virtue of an appeal made under this section and a protection order may be enforced in the same manner and in all respects as if an appeal under this section is not pending.

PART IV
CONDUCT OF PROCEEDINGS

Conduct of proceedings

49.—(1) The following persons may be present during the hearing of any proceedings under this Act —

- (a) an officer of the Court;
- (b) a party to the proceedings and his or her attorney-at-law;
- (c) a witness; or
- (d) any other person permitted by the magistrate to be present.

(2) A witness shall leave the Court room if asked to do so by the magistrate.

(3) This section does not limit the power of the court to hear proceedings in camera or to exclude a person from the court.

(4) Where an application is made on behalf of a child or a child is the respondent in an application, the parent of that child may be a party to the proceedings.

(5) This section does not prevent a child on whose behalf or against whom an application for a protection order is made from being heard in the proceedings and if the child expresses his or her views, the court shall take account of those views, having regard to —

- (a) the age and maturity of the child; and
- (b) the ability of the child to express his or her views.

Standard of proof

50. A question of fact arising in any proceedings under this Act, other than criminal proceedings shall be decided on a balance of probabilities.

Restriction on publication of report of proceedings

51.—(1) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), a person shall not publish a report of proceedings under this Act, other than criminal proceedings, except with the leave of the Court.

(2) A person who contravenes subsection (1) commits an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding ten thousand or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months.

(3) This section does not limit —

(a) any other enactment relating to the prohibition or regulation of the publication of reports or particulars relating to judicial proceedings; or

(b) the power of the Court to punish for contempt of court.

(4) This section does not apply to the publication of a report that is —

(a) of a bona fide professional or technical nature; or

(b) intended for circulation among members of the legal profession, the medical profession, public officers, police officers, psychologists, marriage counsellors or social workers.

PART V MISCELLANEOUS

Civil action

52.—(1) This Act does not bar a civil action of a person in respect of an injury sustained by him or her or his or her property.

(2) The Court may, at any stage of the proceedings, inform the injured party as to his or her right to civil remedy by civil action.

Amendment of Schedule

53. The Minister may, by Order published in the Gazette, amend the Schedule.

Rules

54. The Chief Justice may make Rules of Court —
